Dear Friends,

The 2007 Summer Season at the Globe is one of our most exciting and ambitious yet. The centerpiece, of course, is the nationally-recognized Shakespeare Festival, now in its fourth year with a repertory company. The Globe has been one of the country’s premiere producers of Shakespeare since the Theatre’s inception in 1935, and this year we offer three of the Bard’s most important works: Hamlet, The Two Gentlemen of Verona and Measure for Measure. We are fortunate that our acclaimed director Darko Tresnjak, fresh from a major success in New York and London, continues as Festival Artistic Director.

Noel Coward’s wickedly funny Hay Fever, directed by Robert Longbottom — one of today’s most sought-after directors — plays in the Old Globe Theatre, with the magical comedy Bell, Book and Candle, directed by Tresnjak, in the Cassius Carter Centre Stage.

This summer the Globe “campus” reaches beyond Balboa Park to downtown’s historic Spreckels Theatre, where we’ll be producing the west coast premiere (becoming the national tour) of the Tony Award®-winning musical, Avenue Q. Still one of the biggest recent hits on Broadway, Avenue Q is a hilarious show that’s perfectly suited to summer in San Diego!

We have much to look forward to as well — with the recently-announced 2007/08 winter schedule, highlighted by four world-premieres: A Catered Affair, starring and written by the legendary Harvey Fierstein, a new stage version of the popular MGM movie musical The Band Wagon, Hershey Felder’s world premiere, Beethoven, As I Knew Him, and In this Corner, a Globe commission about famed boxer Joe Louis.

This unprecedented slate of productions would not be possible without the support of our donors and subscribers. We urge each and every one of you to support the Globe in any way that you can during our $75 million campaign for the Theatre’s facilities needs, education programs and endowment. Through this important campaign, as well as through your continued annual support, the Globe will remain San Diego’s cultural landmark and continue to serve generations to come.

COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO SUPPORTS THE ARTS

The Old Globe would like to thank Supervisor Pam Slater-Price and Supervisor Bill Horn for their extraordinary commitments to the Globe’s Capital and Endowment Campaign through Community Projects funds.

Through the County’s Community Projects program and the County’s Community Enhancement program, many non-profit organizations receive funding for programs that improve the quality of life for County residents and promote economic development and tourism.

In 2007, The Old Globe will receive funding through the County’s Community Enhancement Program and the theatre is grateful to the entire San Diego County Board of Supervisors for their generous support.

Dear Friends,

In 1947, Globe Founding Director Craig Noel – ever the visionary – created one of the nation’s first theatre education and outreach programs, which has grown into an extensive series of activities that engage elementary through college students, as well as adults, educators and actors in training.

This year, more than 45,000 will participate in the Globe’s Education and Outreach Programs, which include reading initiatives for underserved schools, student matinee performances and lectures with artists and performers.

Through the Theatre’s Capital and Endowment Campaign, The Old Globe is raising funds to build the new Karen and Donald Cohn Education Center, as part of the new Conrad Prebys Theatre Center. This facility will greatly enhance the Globe’s ability to present education and outreach programs, performances and workshops.

I am pleased to be a part of this exciting project and want to thank each of you who help support the theatre’s education and artistic programs through your annual donations.

Kathryn Hattox, Chair,
Board of Directors
Since 1935, The Old Globe has been an integral thread in the cultural fabric of San Diego, and with increasing attendance, balanced budgets and national recognition, The Old Globe is in one of the strongest positions in its history and is poised to secure the theatre for generations to come.

The most critical long-term need at The Globe today is to grow its endowment. An endowment is a protected investment fund that earns interest, which will provide the theatre with a reliable income stream to supplement its annual ticket sales and donations.

As part of the current campaign – Securing a San Diego Landmark – the Globe is actively seeking commitments to its endowment through planned gifts, bequests and other estate planning options.

The Old Globe would be pleased to meet with you to discuss your goals for leaving a lasting gift to the Theatre. Of course, you should also consult with your tax and legal advisers. We want this to be a “win/win” situation!

For more information, please contact Director of Development, Todd R. Schultz at (619)231-1941 x2310 or TSchultz@TheOldGlobe.org.

The Need for Endowment
Help Secure The Old Globe For Generations to Come

The following are examples of some of the many ways you can form partnerships with The Old Globe that are advantageous to you as well as to the theatre:

MAKE AN OUTRIGHT GIFT — By making outright gifts of cash, appreciated securities and real estate you will receive immediate income tax deductions and recognition of your gift at the Globe.

DONATE FROM YOUR IRA — If you are age 70 or older, you can make cash gifts to the Globe and other charities totaling $100,000 a year from your IRA without incurring income tax on the withdrawal. Act fast to take advantage of this tax provision as it expires in 2007.

LEAVE A BEQUEST — In your will or trust, you can designate the Globe as a beneficiary and that amount will be deductible in determining your taxable estate.

CREATE A CHARITABLE TRUST — While helping the Globe, you and/or your heirs can benefit now or in the future by receiving income for life or for a period of years; you will receive an immediate charitable deduction on your income tax and will avoid capital gains taxes.

MFA 20th Anniversary

CELEBRATING 20 YEARS OF CLASSICAL ACTOR TRAINING

In 1987, Globe Founding Director Craig Noel and University of San Diego Vice-President and Provost Sally Furay, RSCJ, established The Old Globe/University of San Diego Master of Fine Arts acting program, which has resulted in one of the most acclaimed classical training programs in the United States.

To celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the MFA program, Globe donors and USD faculty dined together on the Donald and Darlene Shiley Stage in the Old Globe Theatre on Monday, June 18 with entertainment by current MFA students and graduates.

Special guest for the evening was Darlene Shiley, who, along with her husband Donald, has given extraordinary support to the MFA program through gifts to both The Old Globe and University of San Diego.

Lead Presenting Sponsor of the MFA 20th Anniversary Celebration was Audrey Geisel. Additional generous supporters included Ronald F. Brown, Louis Yager Cantwell Foundation, Mary H. Clark, Kathy Hattox, Tish and Jere Horsley, Jeanette Stevens and San Diego Sheraton Hotel and Marina.

The Old Globe would like to thank these and the many other donors who helped make this a tremendously successful event.

The non-creative person has an idea that silence and physical beauty, a still moonlight night or a woodland glade in the sunlight, can provide a sudden thrust of ideas that never comes to him in his ordinary life. I could wish that this were so. My own ideas for plays have come to me anywhere; they have come in the city, in the country, in cars and trains. I have never known where to turn for them. I have learned that I cannot turn anywhere and that I must wait for them to happen...

...It was G. K. Chesterton who urged that one should do everything possible to remind oneself of them, trying, as he put it, to fall in love with one's wife all over again every single day. It is an excellent idea. And wonder is the artist's sharpest weapon...

...I have found that the mechanical problems of playwriting are easiest of achievement for me while I am driving a car. I think that is because I can forget my body and my sense of myself...

...I remember a day when I was planning a new play. I was driving the car on the long empty roads of the desert. Scenes were constructed in my head effortlessly. Then I came to a small town. There was a stop sign and I obeyed it. Instantly I became aware again that I was driving a car, that I was I, and that I was planning a play. The real (or apparently real) world sprang to life again. It took me a long while to get back to the job because I had become conscious that I was doing it.

That "I" is the important word. It is the word that must be forgotten, and forgotten not deliberately but involuntarily in the absorption of the task. Quite often, when I have a scene to write, with no more than the barest idea of what is it to contain, I will go to my desk and sit at the typewriter, saying: "Well, let's see what happens." Very often something quite presentable happens. And quite often I have no idea where it happened from, whence I brought those lines down onto the machine.

I have said somewhere before that writing dialogue is very much like being a stenographer behind a screen, taking down words from the characters one can hear but not see. I am aware that this sounds like an affected thing to say but I think that almost every artist would bear it out when he speaks of the days when the work goes well. When it goes badly, when the words refuse to come and have to be coaxed and wooed, then one feels that the job is of one's own doing, one's own achievement. That is a somewhat depressing realization.

There have been explanations of this that involve the subconscious and its approval of the task on which one is engaged. If the...

The Witch's Craft

The following is excerpted from PERSUASIONS OF THE WITCH'S CRAFT (Harvard U. Press, 1989), an anthropological study of the practice of witchcraft in contemporary England by the American anthropologist, T. M. Luhrmann

Modern magic is a mixture of many different activities and ideas: paganism, astrology, mysticism, the range of alternative therapies, even kabbalism. People practice as individuals or as members of groups which come and go in a fluctuating population, although some groups have stayed in tact for decades.

The groups are astonishingly diverse. Practitioners think of themselves as, or as inspired by, the witches, wizards, druids, kabbalists, shamans, of mostly European lore, and they perform rituals and create ritual groups. They have two marked characteristics. First, they tolerate a surprising spiritual diversity. Central to the ethos is the notion that any path to a religion is a path to a spiritual reality, and whatever symbols and images one chooses are valid. Second, they practice what they call magic. They often describe themselves as magicians, perform what they call magical rites, and talk as if they expected those rites to have effects.

Magicians are ordinary, well-educated, usually middle-class people. They are not psychotic deluded, and they are not driven to practice by socio-economic desperation. By some process, when they get involved with magic, they learn to find it eminently sensible. They learn to accept its core concept: that mind affects matter, and that in special circumstances, like ritual, the trained imagination can alter the physical world.

Many non-magicians find that theory fatuous or false. But the Janus face of the outsider’s bafflement and the insider’s nonchalance is not unique to magic. Modern magicians are interesting because they are a flamboyant example of a very common process: that when people get involved in an activity they develop ways of interpreting which make that activity meaningful even though it may seem foolish to the uninvolved.

Modern magicians know a way of explaining nature — science — which has been remarkably successful in its explanation and remarkably antagonistic towards ritualistic magic. They do not come from a background which accepts magic easily and their rites are novel creations: their magic cannot be explained as some burden of the past. Magicians maintain their jobs as civil servants, businessmen and computer analysts. If anything, they become more effective at their jobs. Yet they rarely suggest that their clients use magic in their transactions. All people move between different parts of their lives with ease.

John William van Druten was born in London in 1901 to a Dutch father and an English mother. He studied law at the University of London, and became qualified as a solicitor of the Supreme Court of Judicature in England. While teaching English law and legal history at the University College of Wales, he wrote his first successful play, Young Woodley (1925), which was banned in England for its purported attack on the British public school system. The play’s subsequent New York production earned rave reviews, and was soon after produced in London.

Playwriting and directing became van Druten’s profession. In addition to Bell, Book and Candle (1950), he is best known for Old Acquaintance (1940), The Voice of the Turtle (1943), I Remember Mama (1944), and I Am a Camera (1951), which the musical Cabaret was later based on. He directed the premieres of most of his plays, and also staged the original Broadway production of Rodgers and Hammerstein’s The King and I, starring Yul Brynner and Gertrude Lawrence. He wrote screenplay adaptations of his most successful plays, as well as a number of original screenplays, adaptations, and television scripts.

In 1944 he became a naturalized American citizen and settled into rural ranch life outside Palm Springs. Shortly after writing his autobiography, entitled The Widening Circle (1957), he died in his sleep at his home in Indio, California.

T. M. Luhrmann was on the faculty of UCSD (1989-2000), held the Max Palevsky chair at the University of Chicago (2000-2007), and last spring joined the Anthropology faculty of Stanford University.

Donors Get a Peek Behind the Scenes: Meet the Artist Series

Through the Globe’s “Meet the Artist” series, you can learn more about the lives and work of Globe artists, as they talk candidly about their careers, personal interests and lives in the theatre and take questions from the floor. These evenings begin with an hors d’oeuvres reception, followed by a program with the artist and a dessert reception.

The “Meet the Artist” series is a special benefit for annual donors of $500 (invitation to attend one), $1,000 (invitations to attend two) or $2,500 or higher (invitations to attend all three “Meet the Artist” interviews.)

Globe artists who have participated in the “Meet the Artist” series include Sandy Duncan, Hershey Felder, Darko Tresnjak, Marion Ross, Paul Michael, Jerry Patch, Jack O’Brien, Robert Taylor and Richard Oberacker. To learn more or to contribute, contact Courtney Quinn at (619) 231-1941 x2311 or CQuinn@TheOldGlobe.org.
The Old Globe would like to recognize and thank the following generous individuals who have made extraordinary gifts of $1 million or more to this organization. “There are so many opportunities to help make a positive difference in San Diego,” says Kathryn Hattox, “but nothing gets me as emotionally involved as the arts do; specifically The Old Globe.” Mrs. Hattox is a native San Diegan and the Chair of the Board of Directors at The Old Globe. Although she is an incredibly active member of the Globe’s leadership, this is just the current focus in a life dedicated to supporting her community.

“I think that people who have been fortunate enough to accumulate assets that they don’t need for ordinary living should share them with the public,” says Mrs. Hattox. “That’s my theory.” As a supporter of a number of local charitable organizations, Mrs. Hattox puts that theory to work everyday.

In addition to her efforts at The Old Globe, Mrs. Hattox is a long-time supporter of many of the cultural institutions in Balboa Park. She is particularly fond of the San Diego Zoo. In fact, the hippopotamus exhibit at the Zoo is named after her late husband. “Every time family members visit the Zoo, we always stop to take a look at Grandpa’s hippo pool.”

When asked about her work in the community, she puts things succinctly, “It is meaningful to see the people in the community enjoy the things to which one has donated their time and money.” And at a time when many people can’t seem to find enough time to help others, Mrs. Hattox has renewed her dedication to charitable giving.

“I’ve decided to accelerate my giving because it is nice to see the gifts in action. There’s not much point in waiting until you’re dead when you can’t see anything. I’ve been donating gifts in this community for quite a while because I’ve been very fortunate financially. But recently I realized that I should start giving more now. I’m hoping that people will be inspired by all of the amazing things that are going on at the Globe. I’ve been coming to the Globe for fifty years, and I hope that I can help to ensure that others will have that same wonderful experience.”

Mrs. Hattox exemplifies the kind of community spirit that makes San Diego America’s finest city. The Old Globe is proud to recognize Kathryn Hattox as a volunteer, a donor and a friend.
Annual Fund Donors

The Old Globe’s ability to maintain the highest standard of excellence, while keeping ticket prices affordable, is due in large part to the financial support of more than 3,500 individuals, businesses, foundations and government agencies. Please join us in giving a warm thanks and recognition to these leaders who have made tonight and our 625 other performances possible. The Old Globe appreciates the support of those who have stepped into the spotlight.

Louis G. Spisto has served as Executive Director of The Old Globe since October 2002. During his tenure, Spisto spearheaded the return of the Globe’s acclaimed Shakespeare Repertory Season and produced several world-premiere plays and musicals, including Dirty Rotten Scoundrels, Chita Rivera: The Dancer’s Life, and the Twyla Tharp/Bob Dylan musical, The Times They Are A-Changin’, which transferred to Broadway in September, 2006, along with the Globe’s annual holiday favorite, Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas!. In March, 2006, Spisto spearheaded the launch of the Globe’s Capital Campaign, “Securing a San Diego Landmark,” to raise $75 million by the Theatre’s 75th anniversary in 2010. The campaign is off to a hugely successful start, having reached 61% of its goal. During the past four seasons, the organization has grown its subscription audience by unprecedented amount, countering a trend in the non-profit theatre industry, resulting in the highest level of attendance in over a decade. Prior to coming to the Globe, Spisto served as the Executive Director of American Ballet Theatre in New York City. While there, he increased ticket income and annual contributions for the organization by nearly 20 percent. He also tripled the Ballet’s touring weeks and the resources devoted to education and training programs. Spisto has also served as the President of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, where he provided fundraising leadership and creative direction for the orchestra’s $60 million renovation project, and helped dramatically increase ticket sales while initiating several new series for the orchestra. Spisto established a reputation as a superb arts executive here in California, where he spent over ten years as the Executive Director of the Pacific Symphony Orchestra in Orange County. During his tenure there, he tripled the orchestra’s annual budget, all while eliminating a prior deficit and successfully completing the orchestra’s first endowment campaign. In addition, he established a series of innovative recording projects with Sony Classical and oversaw a number of nationally recognized commissioning projects. A strong advocate of arts education, Spisto built one of the largest and most respected music training and outreach efforts. During his career, Spisto has also served as Director of Marketing for the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and Director of Operations and Development for the Performing Arts Center, UC Berkeley. He holds a Masters degree from the University of Wisconsin in Arts Administration and a Bachelors of Business Administration from the University of Notre Dame, and spent many years acting, directing and producing plays and musicals throughout his student days, as well as in professional summer theatre.

Jerry Patch was appointed Resident Artistic Director of The Old Globe in February 2005. He most recently served as the Dramaturg and a member of the long standing artistic team at Southern California’s Tony Award®-winning South Coast Repertory (SCR), where he coordinated the development of 150 new plays, including two Pulitzer Prize winners and numerous other finalists. Patch became the top choice for this new role at the Globe due to his many years of artistic accomplishments, his exceptional relationships with the nation’s leading directors and playwrights, and his enthusiastic commitment to new work. While at SCR, Patch worked as Dramaturg on numerous new works, including Donald Margulies’ Sight Unseen and Brooklyn Bay, which opened to critical acclaim on Broadway; Margaret Edson’s Pulitzer Prize-winning Wit; Howard Korder’s Search and Destroy; Amy Freed’s Intimate Apparel and nine world-premieres by Richard Greenberg, including Three Days of Rain. In addition, he co-conceived The Education of Randy Newman with Michael Roth and Mr. Newman. Patch also served as the project director of SCR’s renowned Pacific Playwrights Festival, which annually introduces seven new plays to an audience of national theatre leaders. Typically, more than 75% of the plays presented receive multiple productions in theatres across the country. During his tenure at SCR, Patch also held the position of Artistic Director (1990-1997) of The Sundance Theatre Program, which included the Sundance Playwrights Laboratory, one of the nation’s leading new play development programs.
