Welcome!

Dear Friends,

Thank you for joining us for the 10th Anniversary production of Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas!. The ten-year celebration has offered us the opportunity to make some exciting updates to the show and give it new life as it marks a decade in San Diego. Over the summer the entire original creative team came together at the Globe for an intensive two-week workshop to develop the new material, which has been incorporated into this production.

Since 1998 The Old Globe has performed this family favorite for over 350,000 children and adults and has provided over 40,000 free tickets to underserved children in the community. Now in its 10th wonderful year, How the Grinch Stole Christmas! has established a permanent place in the hearts of San Diegans, and we are truly grateful to Audrey Geisel for her generous support of this timeless holiday classic.

2007 has been an incredible year for the Theatre, having just wrapped up our enormously successful world-premiere musical, A Catered Affair, which is headed to Broadway in March, and the American premiere of Oscar and the Pink Lady starring legendary actress Rosemary Harris. We also celebrated a very successful Shakespeare Festival and launched the national tour of the hit Broadway musical Avenue Q. We’re now looking ahead to 2008 with the upcoming world premieres of In This Corner, Dancing in the Dark and Hershey Felder’s Beethoven, As I Knew Him, as well as preparing for construction of our new second stage and education center, which, along with the Old Globe Theatre, will be encompassed in the new Conrad Prebys Theatre Center.

At this time of year we encourage you to consider making or renewing your year-end or campaign gift in support of The Old Globe and all that you have come to cherish about the institution. While the Grinch celebrates ten years in San Diego, the Globe itself has been an invaluable part of the community for over 70 years, and we hope you will continue to support the Theatre and help us maintain our world-class productions.

We sincerely thank you for your ongoing support, and wish you and your families all the best this holiday season.

Dear Friends,

Thank you for joining us for this wonderful holiday musical, Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! Celebrating its tenth year at the Globe, the Grinch has become a holiday tradition for families throughout San Diego.

This wonderful production comes to us each year through the generosity of our dear friend Audrey Geisel. I’m sure you join me in thanking her for this priceless gift. Both she and The San Diego Union-Tribune have been long-time supporters of this show. All of San Diego benefits from their generosity.

Last year the Grinch made its Broadway debut and was a phenomenal success receiving major critical and popular acclaim. The Grinch was one of four Globe musicals on Broadway in 2006. In March 2008, the Globe’s 20th Broadway production, A Catered Affair, will open in New York. It has just completed its run here in San Diego.

The Globe is able to produce these extraordinary productions because of your support. We thank you for attending today and encourage you to contribute to the Globe with a year-end gift. Your support is absolutely critical to our survival and stability. I hope you’ll join me as a proud member of the Globe’s donor family.

Have a wonderful holiday season and a very happy New Year!

Since its premiere in 1998, the Globe’s production of Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! has been a holiday staple for San Diego audiences, having been seen by more than 350,000 people over the last 10 years. While generations of children have grown up with the show, the production itself remained largely untouched. After Grinch made its move to Broadway in 2006, Director Jack O’Brien took stock of both the San Diego and New York productions and decided “there was more storytelling to be done.”

The 10th anniversary production, which coincides with the 50th anniversary of the book’s publication, features a number of major revisions, including three new songs, among them a duet between Young Max and Old Max entitled “This Time of Year,” a full company number entitled “It’s the Thought that Counts,” as well as the delightful carol, “Fah Who Doraze” (“Welcome Christmas”), from the popular animated version of How the Grinch Stole Christmas! Other changes to the show include expanded dance sections in the children’s song “Whatchamawho,” a redesigned costume for the Grinch and significant changes to the book of this beloved musical.

AN AFTERWORD....

from the Director

Ten years ago, when Audrey Geisel and I sat enjoying the relative quiet of breakfast in a La Jolla hotel, it never occurred to either of us that we were embarking on a journey that was to extend fully ten years into the future, to say nothing of involving other markets, other collaborators.

I had been haunted by my long-time desire to create for children perhaps the perfect “first theatre” experience possible; and Audrey, still smarting from the treatment the movie industry had made of her late husband’s most brilliant creations, was, frankly, just thinking in terms of San Diego and Christmas. A safe “home” for her Grinch!

Now, nourished by ten years of adoring audiences, and ripened to near-classic status, our own Grinch has begun to burst its seams and assert its natural “Grinchy” personality on our modest plans. While we were fluffing the home pillows, the nation came calling, and the next thing we knew — all of us — an anniversary was looming, and Broadway was knocking. We had work to do!

With the greatest of pleasure, I was able to assemble almost all the original participants for some serious work over the summer — a kind of “reverse workshop” in which we analyzed everything we loved about this piece, and carefully dissected what might be better. After all, we all realize that How the Grinch Stole Christmas!, augmented with music and lyrics by Mel Marvin and Timothy Mason may, indeed, be the only true American Christmas story we’re likely to ever know, and as such, we owe it our best shot.

What has resulted, then, is like taking a classic car and attending to the leather and the chrome. A few new musical numbers have been added; some tweaks on the story line have been clarified, and we have begun to put the final stamp of approval on something that, for years to come — I hope and pray! — will always carry with it, wherever in America it may go, the individual mark of love, honor, joy, and craft that has become the hallmark of Globe work, at home and abroad.

We dedicate this tenth year production of How the Grinch Stole Christmas! to the immutable memory of its creator, our local genius, Ted Geisel, and his beloved Audrey, who has, in her own right, become the visionary he always knew she could be.

— Jack O’Brien

THEODOR SEUSS GEISEL, the writer best known as “Dr. Seuss,” was born on March 2, 1904 in Springfield, MA. He first used his pen name while attending school at Dartmouth College in 1925, and kept the “Dr.” despite never having formally earned a doctoral degree. He started to pursue a Ph.D. in literature at Oxford University in the U.K., but left to begin a career as a writer and cartoonist in the U.S.

During the Depression he drew advertisements for such corporations as General Electric and NBC to support his family. He was a frequent contributor to such magazines as The Saturday Evening Post, Life, and Vanity Fair, and eventually became the editorial cartoonist for the liberal New York City daily newspaper, PM.

In 1957, Seuss collaborated with publishers Houghton Mifflin and Random House to create a children’s book using 225 words that were considered “new-reader” vocabulary words, in order to promote childhood literacy. The result was The Cat in the Hat, which was an instant success. Later that same year, How the Grinch Stole Christmas! was published. Dr. Seuss went on to write more children’s books, many of which are considered classics and are the staple of children’s libraries around the world.

Dr. Seuss died on September 24, 1991 in La Jolla, where he had made his home for many years.
The Copley Plaza outside The Old Globe is swarming with children. Teachers mingle in the crowd of joyful faces. Volunteers guide each group to its assigned place in line. And then the doors to the theatre open, the children file in and the magic begins.

For ten years The Old Globe has presented Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! to San Diego audiences who gather to celebrate the holiday season at the theatre, and for each of those years school groups have gathered on the Plaza to share in the joy.

This extraordinary musical is Audrey “Mrs. Seuss” Geisel’s gift to the San Diego community and The Old Globe honors that gift by ensuring that over 4,000 children attending Title One schools have the opportunity each year to see the show free of charge.

There is nothing quite like the moment that 600 children have their first experience with live theatre. With wide eyes and rapt attention they willingly enter the world of the play. Dr. Seuss’ beautiful story has captured the hearts of both children and adults around the world. The play brings his fantasy world to life and children, more than anyone else, understand it best. A child’s ready imagination and earnest emotional response reminds us all to take a moment to let down our guard and to let ourselves join in the merriment. The Grinch is a marvelous confection that beckons us all to remember what it means to be a child.

For some young audience members the Grinch is a fearsome creature whose oversized green, hairy body and long, gnarled fingers surprise and then delight them. Some scream, some clutch their companions in the theatre, and some simply watch in awe and wonder as this woeful soul slowly but surely learns the true meaning of Christmas. And the children are ready to guide him on his journey of enlightenment. They know what he has gone through, they understand his struggle and they are ready to welcome him to the delights of friendship and love.

There is a moment in the play when the Grinch, newly reformed and now a friend to the inhabitants of Who-ville, leaves the stage and walks down the aisle into the audience to make friends with the children too. The characters on the stage call to him and he seems not to hear them at first. During one student matinee of the show the children, though thrilled that the Grinch was visiting them, were clearly distressed that the poor citizens of Who-ville were searching for him. One tiny child called out over the rest of the voices and entreated the Grinch in a clear and gentle voice, “Mr. Grinch, Look! Go back up there to your family!” And the Grinch sweetly thanked the child and scurried back to his companions on the stage.

After each performance the children exit the theatre ecstatic over what they have just experienced. As the lobby doors opened into the sunlight after a matinee last year one little boy leaped into the air and threw his arms skyward and shouted with glee, “I loved that!” The sheer joy of the moment; the exhilaration with which he expressed himself was enough to make any Grinch melt into a puddle of holiday cheer that would last at least until spring. It is for these children that this play exists. It is all about the joy.
Fifty San Diego schools will bring students to seven free student matinees of the show this year. Over 150 classroom teachers will gather for a professional development workshop to explore ways to incorporate the play into their curriculum, so that while their students enjoy the show their teachers can also use it as a tool to enhance literacy in the classroom. Through poetry, movement, writing and art, teachers extend the theatre experience so that learning is simply part of the joy of the show. Theatre is a fantastic teaching tool and savvy teachers embrace the artform as a way to enliven their teaching and bring some of the joy back to the classroom.

In addition to the annual Grinch free student matinee performances, The Old Globe’s Education Department has numerous programs which take place year round and are specifically designed to support educator efforts in myriad ways. The Globe Readers Program enhances literacy by bringing dedicated volunteers into classrooms to share their love of reading with thousands of children. Those children then write their own stories and learn ways to turn their creative writing into theatre pieces or short plays that they then perform in their schools and even here at The Old Globe. The program has grown in the three years of its existence to serve over 2,000 students in approximately 100 classrooms. By combining theatre with reading, the program provides quality experiences in the arts while building literacy skills.

The new Globe in the Classroom Residency Program supports teachers’ curriculum goals by bringing theatre professionals into the schools to work with classes on ways to demonstrate what they’ve learned in class by performing it for their peers. Through improvisation, theatre games and collaborative writing students synthesize core learning while exploring the art form. Students enjoy the fruits of those labors during in-school performances by the participating classes and the learning is further extended through those presentations.

High school students benefit from The Old Globe’s free Student Matinee Program, seeing many of the Theatre’s shows in special daytime performances presented specifically for teen audiences. In the spring semester of 2008, over 4,000 students will attend performances of In This Corner, Beethoven, As I Knew Him, Dancing in the Dark, and The Glass Menagerie. But simply seeing a show isn’t enough. Students need to understand the history and background of the play and the playwright; elements of the production need to be investigated; and connections to their own experiences need to be explored. With that in mind, the Education Department trains Teaching Artists to visit each class that will be attending one of our shows to present interactive workshops that prepare students for the experience. These workshops provide an opportunity for teachers to make curriculum connections and for the Globe to give more than just exposure to the arts but rather a fuller exploration of the theatre through hands-on activities.

The Old Globe staff looks forward each year to the moment those first audiences arrive for a glimpse of the Grinch. Those smiling faces on the plaza and the rapturous applause in the Theatre bring true pleasure to everyone. It’s a gift we give to the community but it’s one that we get back abundantly through the joy our audiences share. And all year long, that gift keeps on giving with education programs that spring from the work of art on the stage and extend to classrooms near and far. We wish our audiences great joy at the holidays and throughout the year.

Marking 10 years of Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! at The Old Globe, supporters and friends of the Theatre celebrated at The Lodge at Torrey Pines on Friday, November 16, honoring Audrey Geisel (a.k.a. “Mrs. Dr. Seuss”) for her long-standing and generous support of the Globe.

For many years Audrey Geisel has been a special friend of the Globe and in 1998 made an exclusive agreement with the Theatre to produce the Grinch here in San Diego.

Last year, the Globe worked with Audrey and New York producers to mount the musical’s Broadway debut, which was an enormous success, and this year the Grinch returns to Broadway for a run at the St. James Theatre. Since 1998 more than 500,000 people have seen the Grinch at the Globe or on Broadway, and an additional 50,000 children and adults will experience this delightful production in 2007.

Lead underwriters of the Grinch 10th Celebration were Donald and Darlene Shiley, and serving as Co-Chairs were Globe Board Members Valerie Cooper and Sandy Redman.

The Need for Endowment

Help Secure The Old Globe For Generations to Come

Since 1935, The Old Globe has been an integral thread in the cultural fabric of San Diego, and with increasing attendance, balanced budgets and national recognition, The Old Globe is in one of the strongest positions in its history and is poised to secure the theatre for generations to come.

The most critical long-term need at The Globe today is to grow its endowment. An endowment is a protected investment fund that earns interest, which will provide the theatre with a reliable income stream to supplement its annual ticket sales and donations.

As part of the current campaign – Securing a San Diego Landmark – the Globe is actively seeking commitments to its endowment through planned gifts, bequests and other estate planning options.

The Old Globe would be pleased to meet with you to discuss your goals for leaving a lasting gift to the theatre. Of course, you should also consult with your tax and legal advisers. We want this to be a “win/win” situation!

For more information, please contact Director of Development, Todd R. Schultz at (619)231-1941 x2310 or TSchultz@TheOldGlobe.org.

The following are examples of some of the many ways you can form partnerships with The Old Globe that are advantageous to you as well as to the theatre:

MAKE AN OUTRIGHT GIFT – By making outright gifts of cash, appreciated securities and real estate you will receive immediate income tax deductions and recognition of your gift at the Globe.

DONATE FROM YOUR IRA – If you are age 70 1/2 or older, you can make cash gifts to the Globe and other charities totaling $100,000 a year from your IRA without incurring income tax on the withdrawal. Act fast to take advantage of this tax provision as it expires in 2007.

LEAVE A BEQUEST – In your will or trust, you can designate the Globe as a beneficiary and that amount will be deductible in determining your taxable estate.

CREATE A CHARITABLE TRUST – While helping the Globe, you and/or your heirs can benefit now or in the future by receiving income for life or for a period of years; you will receive an immediate charitable deduction on your income tax and will avoid capital gains taxes.

Most of the world sees a play only in its completed form. A good production will transport the viewer, tricking their eyes into believing in the authenticity of the created world. Hard work done by the myriad of backstage artisans is made to look effortless. Behind the scenes, everyone works laboriously to make this a reality.

The Costume Shop, housed in the lower level of The Old Globe's administrative offices, encompasses one of the largest costume departments in the nation. Most of the costumes, shoes, accessories and wigs are created right here. The creation of a costume involves many hands and many minds, beginning with the designer and the director who will meet to discuss the themes and “look” of a show. The designer will then create sketches, bring in swatches of fabric, and may bring in pictures for more contemporary designs.

The next step is research. Designers will research the look of a certain period, the types of fabrics and colors that would have been available, the cuts used for costumes and will use all of this for inspiration. The next phase involves finding the materials to make a sketch come to life. It is decided what can be pulled from our stock and what must be built from scratch. At this point, teams of drapers and stitchers, who are assigned groups of costumes and actors, will create a mock-up of the costume in muslin before creating the final piece.

A highlight of the 2007 season is the redesign of the Grinch's costume for the Globe's 10th Anniversary production of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas!. The Grinch costume is a challenging project for numerous reasons. First, the proportions of Dr. Seuss’ original character are not human, so a body suit must be created for the character that will make him rounder and lumpier. An added concern is that the costume is incredibly hot, so the body suit is equipped with pockets in which ice-packs can be stuffed, to help cool the actor.

Secondly, the Grinch has shaggy green hair covering his body so a hairy body suit must be created, along with feet, hands, a wig and facial hair. The hairy suit that goes over the body suit is made by taking strips of synthetic hair, which are dyed in several shades of green and then hand-sown in a variety of patterns and angles to make the hair look more natural.

The wig and facial hair are created and maintained by a group of wig makers who also take different hues of hair and hand tie them in varying colors, three hairs at a time. In fact, each wig that the Globe uses is created by this team and each is custom-fitted to the actor’s head and then hand-tied to create a one-of-a-kind piece.

The hands for the Grinch are constructed as gloves that are fitted with extra-long, moveable fingers to mimic Dr. Seuss’ original sketch of the character. Along with the feet that are created, the gloves must also be covered in varying colors of Grinch hair to complete the look.

The process of creating a costume seems lengthy, but it often takes just six weeks to complete. What is actualized in this process is a piece of the overall vision of the play. As Stacy Sutton, Costume Director of The Old Globe says, “Costumes add so much to a performance. Without overstating, they tell you where you are, what time you’re in and how to relate to where you are.”

Louis G. Spisto has served as Executive Director of The Old Globe since October 2002. During his tenure, Spisto spearheaded the return of the Globe’s acclaimed Shakespeare Repertory Season and produced several world-premiere plays and musicals, including Dirty Rotten Scoundrels, Chita Rivera: The Dancer’s Life, and the Twyla Tharp/Bob Dylan musical, The Times They Are A-Changin, which transferred to Broadway in September, 2006, along with the Globe’s annual holiday favorite, Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas. In March, 2006, Spisto spearheaded the launch of the Globe’s Capital Campaign, “Securing a San Diego Landmark,” to raise $75 million by the Theatre’s 75th anniversary in 2010. The campaign is off to a hugely successful start, having reached 61% of its goal. During the past four seasons, the organization has grown its subscription audience an unprecedented amount,countering a trend in the non-profit theatre industry, resulting in the highest level of attendance in over a decade. Prior to coming to the Globe, Spisto served as the Executive Director of American Ballet Theatre in New York City. While there, he increased ticket income and annual contributions for the organization by nearly 20 percent. He also tripled the Ballet’s touring weeks and the resources devoted to education and training programs. Spisto has also served as the President of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, where he provided fundraising leadership and creative direction for the orchestra’s $60 million renovation project, and helped dramatically increase ticket sales while initiating several new series for the orchestra. Spisto established a reputation as a superb arts executive here in California, where he spent over ten years as the Executive Director of the Pacific Symphony Orchestra in Orange County. During his tenure there, he tripled the orchestra’s annual budget, all while eliminating a prior deficit and successfully completing the orchestra’s first endowment campaign. In addition, he established a series of innovative recording projects with Sony Classical and oversaw a number of nationally recognized commissioned projects. A strong advocate of arts education, Spisto built one of the largest and most respected music training and outreach efforts. During his career, Spisto has also served as Director of Marketing for the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and Director of Operations and Development for the Performing Arts Center, UC Berkeley. He holds a Masters degree from the University of Wisconsin in Arts Administration and a Bachelors of Business Administration from the University of Notre Dame, and spent many years acting, directing and producing plays and musicals throughout his student days, as well as in professional summer theatre.

Jerry Patch was appointed Resident Artistic Director of The Old Globe in February 2005. He most recently served as the Dramaturg and a member of the long standing artistic team at Southern California’s Tony Award-winning South Coast Repertory (SCR), where he coordinated the development of 150 new plays, including two Pulitzer Prize winners and numerous other finalists. Patch became the top choice for this new role at the Globe due to his many years of artistic accomplishments, his exceptional relationships with the nation’s leading directors and playwrights, and his enthusiastic commitment to new work. While at SCR, Patch worked as Dramaturg on numerous new works, including Donald Margulies’ Sight Unseen and Brooklyn Boy, which opened to critical acclaim on Broadway; Margaret Edison’s Pulitzer Prize-winning Hit; Howard Korder’s Search and Destroy; Amy Freed’s The Board of Avon, Safe in Hell and Freedomland; Lynn Nottage’s Intimate Apparel and nine world-premières by Richard Greenberg, including Three Days of Rain. In addition, he co-conceived The Education of Randy Newman with Michael Roth and Mr. Newman. Patch also served as the project director of SCR’s renowned Pacific Playwrights Festival, which annually introduces seven new plays to an audience of national theatre leaders. Typically, more than 75% of the plays presented receive multiple productions in theatres across the country. During his tenure at SCR, Patch also held the position of Artistic Director (1990-1997) of The Sundance Theatre Program, which included the Sundance Playwrights Laboratory, one of the nation’s leading new play development programs. Additionally, he ran the Sundance Summer Theatre, a repertory of 2-3 productions staged outdoors for Utah audiences and the Sundance Children’s Theatre, which is dedicated to the development and presentation of new works for family audiences by leading American playwrights. He also serves as Consulting Dramaturg for New York’s Roundabout Theatre Company.
