Dear Friends,

It’s always a pleasure to introduce San Diego audiences to the work of playwrights we are excited about. With The Savannah Disputation, playwright Evan Smith brings us a play that addresses the issue of religion in both meaningful and humorous ways. Perhaps we learn best with laughter and I think that’s what Mr. Smith wants us to do.

The West Coast premiere of The Savannah Disputation is our final presentation in our temporary “second stage” home at the San Diego Museum of Art’s James S. Copley Auditorium. I extend my sincere thanks to everyone who has helped to make our temporary stage a success, from the terrific staff of the museum to our ingenious production personnel.

In January, Neil Simon’s Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Lost in Yonkers, will inaugurate the state-of-the-art Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre. Our new arena-style stage will seat 250 people and retain the intimacy of a smaller space while opening up new technical possibilities for the Globe’s productions. Situated above the theatre is Hattox Hall, the centerpiece of the Karen and Donald Cohn Education Center where many of our theatre and education programs will take place.

Please join us on Saturday, December 12, for a preview of the completed Conrad Prebys Theatre Center. You’ll be able to take a backstage tour, have your questions answered by Globe staff and, if you’re a subscriber, take a first look at your new seats. If you’re not yet a Globe subscriber, you may find a seat that’s a perfect fit!

We look forward to seeing you at our new theatre. Thank you for joining us for The Savannah Disputation.

Dear Friends,

I am delighted to welcome you to the launch of the Globe’s 2009-2010 season with the West Coast premiere of The Savannah Disputation. This production, and the exciting lineup of plays and musicals that will follow, represent the Globe’s commitment to its mission of creating theatrical experiences of the highest professional standards, and in this tradition, we are proud to unveil another world-class season.

Once more, our ability to continue presenting a wide and varied range of works like those you’ll see this season is made possible through your committed patronage — as subscribers and contributors. I’m pleased to learn that many of you have responded positively to the curtain speeches by purchasing new and additional subscriptions, and to the letters and calls asking for your continued support of the Annual Fund this year. I want you to know that your ongoing investment in The Old Globe is appreciated beyond measure.

Once again, from all of us here, thank you for participating so meaningfully, and so often, for the greater good of The Old Globe. Your encouragement and enthusiasm for what we do add to a feeling of great celebration as we kick-off the new season.

Enjoy the show!

Another Perfect Score for the Globe

Charity Navigator, the premier evaluator of non-profits in the United States, has — for the fifth consecutive year — awarded The Old Globe its coveted 4-star rating for sound fiscal management. This places the Globe in the distinguished company of only 4% of all Charity Navigator-rated non-profit organizations in the country!

Dear Louis G. Spisto:

On behalf of Charity Navigator, I wish to congratulate Old Globe Theatre on achieving our coveted 4-star rating for sound fiscal management.

As the nonprofit sector continues to grow at an unprecedented pace, savvy donors are demanding more accountability, transparency and quantifiable results from the charities they choose to support with their hard-earned dollars. In this competitive philanthropic marketplace, Charity Navigator, America’s premier charity evaluator, highlights the fine work of efficient charities such as your own, and provides donors with essential information needed to give them greater confidence in the charitable choices they make.

Based on the most recent financial information available, we have calculated a new rating for your organization. We are proud to announce Old Globe Theatre has earned our fifth consecutive 4-star rating for its ability to efficiently manage and grow its finances. Only 4% of the charities we rate have received at least 5 consecutive 4-star evaluations, indicating that Old Globe Theatre consistently executes its mission in a fiscally responsible way, and outperforms most other charities in America. This “exceptional” designation from Charity Navigator differentiates Old Globe Theatre from its peers and demonstrates to the public it is worthy of their trust.

Forbes, Business Week, and Kiplinger’s Financial Magazine, among others, have profiled and celebrated our unique method of applying data-driven analysis to the charitable sector. We evaluate ten times more charities than our nearest competitor and currently attract more visitors to our website than all other charity rating groups combined, thus making us the leading charity evaluator in America. Our irrefutable data shows that users of our site gave more than they planned to before viewing our findings, and in fact, it is estimated that last year Charity Navigator influenced over $10 billion in charitable gifts.

We believe our service will enhance your organization’s fundraising and public relations efforts. Our favorable review of Old Globe Theatre’s fiscal health will be visible on our website as of July 1st.

We wish you the best in all of your charitable endeavors.

Sincerely,

Ken Berger

STOP ME IF YOU’VE HEARD THIS ONE...

A priest, a minister and a rabbi go into a bar. Or was it an elevator? Or did they go fishing? For a country founded on religious freedom, we do let religion tickle our funny bone. We have tolerance for religion but we also tolerate light-hearted fun at the expense of the believer. The Savannah Disputation falls into that category. Evan Smith has fun with the believers, not with their firmly held beliefs. He’s in good company. Molière lanced hypocrisy in his comedic masterpiece Tartuffe, in which the title character almost bilks his susceptible hosts under the guise of piety. George Bernard Shaw, in Major Barbara, pits Barbara, a major in the Salvation Army against her father, a munitions magnate, who thunders “I am a millionaire. That is my religion.” He wants to fund her charity work and she feels she can’t take tainted money. The play is an extended colloquy between the two. Not exactly a disputation, but a sparkling Shavian argument to be sure. One of the most successful, if not critically revered, plays of the 20th century was Abie’s Irish Rose, which poked gentle fun at a Jewish man who marries an Irish Catholic woman over his father’s objections. More recently, playwright Daniel Goldfarb had a success with the comedy Modern Orthodox, in which the latent faith of a secular Jewish couple is awakened by an orthodox Jew who has become their temporary houseguest. Musicals have their share of dancing and singing clerics from the rabbis of Fiddler on the Roof to the nuns of the Sound of Music, not to mention the sisters of Nunsense. Hollywood can also find fun in the sanctified. Bing Crosby was always identified with the genial Father O’Malley in Going My Way. Rosalind Russell found success later in her career as the headmistress in The Trouble with Angels. Whoopi Goldberg donned a wimple to help a convent choir revify a parish church in Sister Act. George Burns got the top job, playing God in a trio of popular films. Morgan Freeman as God gave his almighty powers to a complaining Jim Carrey in Bruce Almighty to show him what a hard job it is to be omnipotent.

Now let’s rejoin the rabbi, the priest and the minister at that bar. Why is it the minister never gets the punch line?

By Fr. Ron Pachence

Welcome to a down home theological disputation.

First some vocabulary homework. A disputation is an idea contest where one party tries to outsmart the other. Long before Catholics and Protestants crossed theological swords during the Reformation, Christians have engaged in the kind of disputation we see in this play. Ideological fault lines run as deep in religion as they do in politics. Perhaps even deeper. That one’s easy. Now on to some more technical vocabulary in the play.

The Mass is the Catholic worship service and a Mass of obligation is one Catholics have to attend whether they want to or not — under pain of serious sin.

At every Mass, Catholics exchange the sign of peace with the people around them, usually a handshake or a hug, whether they want to or not. It’s bad form not to do so.

The profession of faith at Mass (aka, the “creed”) is the part when Catholics profess what they believe, whether they understand it all or not.

Magisterium is the official teaching authority of the Church from the Latin word magister, meaning teacher. Catholics are supposed to accept everything the magisterium teaches... yes, whether they want to or not. Just ask Fr. Murphy.
The Savannah Disputation sprang to life from the imagination of Evan Smith and one of its resonating qualities is the realism of the setting he has chosen. Margaret and Mary, the two religious sisters who are the main characters, live on East Duffy Street in Savannah, Georgia. Their residence is situated between the bishop’s house, a six minute drive in one direction, and their parish church, a four minute drive in the other direction. These three locations demarcate the world of the play and give us a glimpse into the ordinary world of the two sisters before their horizons are stretched, and their faith tested, by a young evangelical’s visit. In preparation for this production, set designer Deb O began to research the city of Savannah by taking a virtual stroll down the real East Duffy Street using Google Street View. She discovered a small yellow house and instantly knew that this was the type of house that the sisters would have lived in. “It turned out that the house was for sale and that they had posted photos of the interior on the internet,” said Deb. “Well, that is a designers dream – photos! I often try to travel to where the story takes place, this time I was able to do it without leaving my living room.”

And as for the challenge of putting the rectangular house into our round house, Deb said, “We really did not want the actors running off stage to the kitchen or to answer the front door so finding the house really solved all of our problems! Doing anything in the round has its own set of challenges so finding a good representation of their home really helped us a lot!”

The house on Duffy Street.

Theology101

The most severe, though seldom used, sanction for denying Church teaching is excommunication. That’s when you are thrown out of the Church. Just ask Mary.

As for the medieval Inquisitions (the Church courts established to discover and punish folks who disputed with the magisterium), the less said the better.

So much for vocabulary.

What about the serious theological disputation in the play; the resurrection of the body? This one is thorny and none of the contestants in the disputation get it quite right. According to the gospel narratives, Jesus rose in the body on the third day after his crucifixion. He was seen by his disciples. He was like the Jesus who died (he eats, talks and can be touched), but not exactly. He was also unlike the Jesus who died. He is not recognized at first. He suddenly appears from behind locked doors and he cannot die again. One day, he just disappeared into the heavens.

What these texts seem to be saying is that the risen Jesus was not simply a resuscitated corpse (a key issue in the play), but a person transformed into a brand new kind of life — a risen person who will live forever.

Reflecting on this event (1 Corinthians 15), the great Christian evangelist St. Paul calls Jesus Christ “the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep (died).” He goes on to say that, like Jesus, believers will experience resurrection as what he calls a “spiritual body” as opposed to a physical resuscitation of the old body. This risen body, like the risen Jesus, will never die.

Pretty heavy stuff.

So what do Christians agree to believe about the resurrection of the body? That’s obviously a matter for disputation.

EDUCATION BY THE NUMBERS

The Old Globe offers Education programming nearly every day of the week in one form or another. Over 50,000 children and adults have been served by our volunteer-based programs.

And how many volunteers work in those programs? Here’s how the numbers work out.

Approximately 3,000 children are served by our Globe Readers literacy program each year. Our 29 volunteers participate in training workshops that prepare them for their roles as readers in area schools. They visit their assigned classes on a regular basis to read aloud to the children and introduce them to the world of theatre through Creative Dramatics and Reader’s Theatre activities. Now in its fourth year, the Globe Readers program has benefited over 12,000 children and their teachers by encouraging a love of reading, enhancing language arts classroom instruction, introducing positive role models, and bringing theatre arts to classrooms that do not ordinarily have the resources to incorporate theatre into the curriculum.

It sounds like a tall order for volunteers who may have little or no classroom experience but our volunteers are provided with interactive training sessions, a step-by-step manual and regular staff support to help them do their jobs. These volunteers come from many backgrounds, but the one thing they have in common is a love of reading and a desire to share it with children. They give of their time and in exchange they receive the affection and respect of classroom upon classroom of children inspired to read.

Over 2,000 children and adults take Behind the Scenes tours of our theatre spaces each year. Our 17 trained docents know this theatre like they know their own homes. They participate in extensive training that provides them the information they need to know in order to pass on the stories and history of this wonderful organization. But we can’t give them that inherent ability to tell a good story, to interact with a tour group, to be constantly flexible and imaginative in order to work with a variety of age and interest groups, and to simply love The Old Globe enough to want to share it with others. That comes naturally to them and it’s what makes the tours so much fun.

Tens of thousands (yes, you read that right) of children and adults participate in Education programs at The Old Globe each year. In addition to the volunteer-based Globe Readers and Behind the Scenes Tours, the Globe offers Seminars and Forums for Adults, In-Classroom Residencies, the Summer Shakespeare Intensive for Teens, Professional Development for Teachers and for Teaching Artists, Production Guides, pre-show workshops, Grinch Initiatives and the Globe Honors awards program. Supporting our Education staff are two office volunteers who help us with anything from mailings to program assessment, logistics (try herding 600 first graders into the theatre in ten minutes flat and you’ll know why we need our volunteers!), and any number of other departmental needs. Their regular support is yet another reason The Old Globe is able to offer such a wide array of engaging and powerful programs.

We’re always looking for new volunteers. If you or someone you know is interested in education, please contact our Education Associate, Kim Montelibano-Heil at kheil@TheOldGlobe.org for more information.
The Savannah Disputation marks the final presentation of The Old Globe in this specially-built theatre at the San Diego Museum of Art. Our 2009-2010 Second Stage season will continue with the classic Neil Simon comedy, Lost in Yonkers – the inaugural production in the Globe’s brand new Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre at the Conrad Prebys Theatre Center.

The Conrad Prebys Theatre Center will herald an exciting new era for the Globe, allowing us to produce works at an even higher artistic level, and helping ensure the Globe’s prominent position in the future of American Theatre. The new complex includes the Old Globe Theatre (our flagship theatre with year-round performances on the Donald and Darlene Shiley Stage), the new Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre, the Karen and Donald Cohn Education Center and a new Lady Carolyn’s Pub and dining pavilion facing the redesigned Copley Plaza.

The Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre will bring our arena stage productions into the 21st Century, with superior technical facilities and a physical space that affords a broader range of artistic choices, while retaining the intimacy the Cassius Carter Centre Stage. The new theatre features a state-of-the-art arena stage with a full lighting grid, trap room and enhanced sound capability. With no seat more than five rows from the action, the theatre provides safe and comfortable access for both the audience and the actors.
The Karen and Donald Cohn Education Center is located on the uppermost level of the new facility, providing a centralized space for the Globe’s education and outreach programs. The Center’s Hattox Hall provides a performance and training space for more than 150. It will also feature a studio dedicated to student activities and a “History of The Old Globe” installation.

The Center will also be home to many of the Globe’s audience enrichment activities, serving more than 50,000 each year and featuring spectacular views from the Donald and Darlene Shiley Terrace. Additionally, the new building will feature three levels of much-needed additional and improved dressing rooms and artistic support spaces that will serve all three theatres on The Old Globe campus.

As we inaugurate our beautiful new theatre, we want you there to inaugurate your seat! If you haven’t already, secure your priority seating privileges now by purchasing a subscription to our 2009-2010 Season.

Join us on Saturday, December 12 for a preview of the new Conrad Prebys Theatre Center. Visit the Globe online in December for more details.
Annual Fund Donors

The Old Globe’s ability to maintain the highest standard of excellence, while keeping ticket prices affordable, is due in large part to the financial support of more than 2,000 individuals, businesses, foundations and government agencies. Please join us in giving a warm thanks and recognition to these leaders who have made tonight and our 625 other performances possible. The Old Globe appreciates the support of those who have stepped into the spotlight.

Services hours, mail your change of address to the Ticket
Services Office, or email us at Tickets@TheOldGlobe.org.

UNABLE TO ATTEND?
If you find you are unable to use your tickets, please give them to a friend, or turn them in to the Ticket Services Office and receive a tax receipt for your donation. Tickets must be received by show time.

RESTROOMS AND TELEPHONES
Restrooms are located in the lower lobby of the Old Globe
Theatre and adjacent to the Festival Theatre; pay phones may be found in the lower Globe Theatre lobby and next to the Gift Shop.

SEATING OF LATECOMERS
Although we understand parking is often at a premium, the seating of latecomers is extremely disruptive. Latecomers may be given alternative seating and will be seated at an appropriate interval.

YOUNG CHILDREN
Children five years of age and under will not be admitted to performances.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES AND CAMERAS
Use of recording devices and cameras is not permitted. If you are wearing a digital watch or pager, or if you are carrying a cellular phone, please silence it prior to entering the theatre.

ASSISTED LISTENING SYSTEM
For the convenience of the hearing impaired, the assisted listening system is available in the Old Globe Theatre.
Lightweight headsets may be obtained from the house manager prior to performances, free of charge.

PUBLIC TOURS
Go behind the scenes at The Old Globe to learn about the history, three stages, shop and craft areas. Open tours:
most Saturdays and Sundays at 10:30am. Groups by reservation. $5 adults; $3 seniors and students. Phone (619) 231-1941 x2142 for information/reservations.

LOST AND FOUND
If you have misplaced a personal item while at the theatre, please contact the Ticket Services Office or Security as soon as possible. If we are unable to locate your item, we’ll happily take down your contact information as well as a description of the item and contact you if it is found. The Old Globe does not assume liability for items left behind on premises.
