HERSHEY FELDER IN CONCERT
THE GREAT AMERICAN SONGBOOK
JULY 11 - JULY 17
Welcome to The Old Globe

I am thrilled to welcome Hershey Felder back for his third appearance at The Old Globe! If you were not fortunate enough to see The Old Globe’s 2008 world premiere of Beethoven, As I Knew Him or catch one of Hershey’s previous sold-out performances of George Gershwin Alone and Monsieur Chopin, then you have a delightful evening of discovery ahead of you. Hershey has enchanted audiences and critics around the world with his “Composer Sonata,” theatrical journeys through the lives and music of some of the world’s greatest composers. I hope you will enjoy both George Gershwin Alone and The Great American Songbook and that you will return later this summer for his latest exploration, Maestro: The Art of Leonard Bernstein.

It has been an exhilarating year at The Old Globe. This spring’s acclaimed production of August: Osage County became the talk of the town, earning standing ovations and national attention. This summer, the 2011 Shakespeare Festival will build on last year’s success as Artistic Director Adrian Noble and director Ron Daniels return to bring us two plays by Shakespeare – The Tempest and Much Ado About Nothing – along with Peter Shaffer’s contemporary classic Amadeus.

These incredible offerings would not be possible without your ongoing support. Thank you for being a part of our 2010-2011 season! We have already begun work on a whole new adventure, a whole new season of plays. (You can see the full season listing on page 17 in this program.) With 11 dynamic productions, including major musicals, daring revivals and four exciting world premieres, the 2011-2012 season is shaping up to be one of our best ever. I hope to see you there!

THE GLOBE AT A GLANCE

The sixth-largest regional theatre in the country, The Old Globe offers more programming and a greater repertoire than any theatre of its size.

As a not-for-profit theatre with an annual budget averaging $20 million, the Globe earns $10 million in ticket sales and must raise an additional $10 million from individual and institutional tax-deductible donations.

The Globe provides more than 20 different community and education programs to nearly 50,000 people annually.

The Old Globe has sent 20 productions to Broadway since 1987.

In 1987, The Old Globe/University of San Diego Master of Fine Arts program was established to provide the highest caliber in training of young classical actors.

Hershey Felder in Maestro: The Art of Leonard Bernstein is a new work from the creators of George Gershwin Alone, Monsieur Chopin and Beethoven, As I Knew Him. With a story spanning the entire 20th century, Leonard Bernstein, one of America’s greatest musicians, broke through every artistic ceiling possible to become the world’s musical ambassador. Conductor, composer, pianist, author, teacher, librettist, television star... for Leonard Bernstein, boundaries simply did not exist. Hershey Felder and Joel Zwick collaborate for the fourth time at The Old Globe—bringing to life the composer of West Side Story, Candide, On the Town, Mass and many more.
It’s summer in Balboa Park, and all three Globe theatres are in full swing presenting seven productions. Evening audiences, often swelling to 1,500 members, gaze at magnificent sets and marvel as talented actors perform their theatrical magic. As you settle in to enjoy your own share of this magic, you may not be aware of the enormity of the undertaking behind the scenes.

I was intrigued to learn from our Executive Producer the resources required to create these world-class productions. For months, the Costume, Scene and Prop Shops have hummed with activity to create and support seven main stage shows. For this season’s Festival sets alone, 750 scaffolding planks were loaded in, 300 lights were hung and crew members averaged 80 hours per week during the technical rehearsal process. Our costumers created 225 costumes and 42 customized wigs, and the props team constructed more than 60 pieces of furniture.

Ticket revenue covers only about half the cost of this complex effort, almost all of which occurs right here in San Diego, led by talented artists whose skills rank at the very top of their crafts. Most of the rest of the cost is covered by the generosity of patrons like you. Your support as donors to our annual fund ensures the Globe’s status as a nationally recognized cultural icon and makes each of you a key investor in our success.

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Elaine Lipinsky

Elaine is the daughter of the late Dorris and Bernard Lipinsky and is honored to have been a part of The Old Globe family for many years. The Lipinsky family’s tradition of generous support to the Globe began in the 1950s, and it is important to Elaine that this tradition be continued through her own foundation because of her parents’ love of the Globe and its service to the community through its dedication to theatrical excellence and arts education. Elaine also supports the M.F.A. Musical Theatre Program at SDSU, Vista Hill, Seacrest Village, Mama’s Kitchen, various other theatres in San Diego and other charities too numerous to mention.

A Selection of Compositions by George Gershwin

GEORGE WHITE’S SCANDALS OF 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924

LADY, BE GOOD! (1924, lyrics by Ira Gershwin)

Rhapsody in Blue (1924), his most famous work, a symphonic jazz composition for Paul Whiteman’s jazz band and piano; premiered at Aeolian Hall.

Concerto in F (1925), three movements for piano and orchestra; premiered in Carnegie Hall by the New York Symphony Orchestra, Walter Damrosch conducting.

Oh, Kay! (1926, lyrics by Ira Gershwin and Howard Dietz), includes the song “Someone to Watch Over Me.”

Strike Up the Band (1927, lyrics by Ira Gershwin), premiered in Philadelphia.

Funny Face (1927, lyrics by Ira Gershwin)

An American in Paris (1928), a symphonic poem with elements of jazz and realistic Parisian sound effects; premiered at Carnegie Hall by the New York Philharmonic, Walter Damrosch conducting.

Show Girl (1929, lyrics by Ira Gershwin and Gus Kahn)

Girl Crazy (1930, lyrics by Ira Gershwin)

Of Thee I Sing (1931, lyrics by Ira Gershwin), awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Drama in 1932, the first musical to win that award, although only Ira Gershwin and the bookwriters were awarded the Prize, not George Gershwin.

Second Rhapsody (1931), for piano and orchestra, based on the score for a musical sequence from Delicious; premiered at the Boston Symphony Hall by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Serge Koussevitzky conducting.

Cuban Overture (1932), originally titled Rumba, a tone poem featuring elements of native Cuban dance and folk music; premiered at the Lewisohn Stadium of the City University of New York, Gershwin conducting.

Variations on I Got Rhythm (1934), a set of interesting variations on his famous song, for piano and orchestra.

Porgy and Bess (1935, lyrics by Ira Gershwin and DuBose Heyward), revived on Broadway in 1942, 1943, 1953, 1976 (Houston Grand Opera; winner of the Tony Award for Most Innovative Production of a Revival, directed by Jack O’Brien) and 1983.
The question most often asked by journalists, artists and the public is, “What discovery about George Gershwin surprised you most?”

The response that immediately comes to mind is the polarization of opinion about everything Gershwin. He was beloved by the public at large, but he divided the critics in half. His friends and acquaintances said they either loved him deeply or simply tolerated him. There were those who said he was a womanizer, and others who said he had only one mistress – his music.

Musicians and composers either loved his playing and composing – or completely dismissed it. There were friends who said he was a man in love with his art and others who said he was a man in love with himself. While Rouben Mamoulian, famed director of Porgy and Bess, said that George had a genuine way of observing himself from the outside, Harold Arlen and other friends claimed that George lacked any ability for self-analysis. And although he engaged in sessions with a psychoanalyst over a lengthy period, George himself said that he really had no interest in looking deep inside.

George Gershwin, a child of Russian-Jewish immigrants, brought dance music into the concert hall and made a “lady out of jazz.” He composed America’s greatest opera with the black South as its subject matter, which, interestingly enough, led to a number of anti-Semitic attacks. George’s personal letters reveal a very kindhearted man, but there are a number of accounts to the contrary. There are recordings of George Gershwin’s own playing that are masterful and others that reveal technical and musical deficiencies.

George’s very best friend, composer and pianist Kay Swift, often commented that if one wanted to know George, one simply had to understand his music. It is therefore my intention to present him in this way – joyous, entertaining, in love with music and maybe even himself (just a little...), but above all, always reaching for something fresh and new.
In 1932, American composer George Gershwin was a guest on the Fleischmann Hour Radio Show hosted by the classic American crooner Rudy Vallee. Radio was still quite new, and for the first time in history people from across the nation were able to tune in and catch a few live magical moments, and all at the same time. Some years after George died, his older lyricist brother, Ira, came across a number of long-forgotten acetate discs stored in a family closet. To Ira’s shock, on one of the discs was a complete and clear recording of this very radio show. Immediately after Vallee’s brief introduction, there is a frisson of energy and George’s fingers hit the keys in a rising major chromatic passage that gives birth to a glorious improvisation as good as its name: “Fascinating Rhythm.” The music and playing are infused with such joy that it is impossible not to want to dive into the recording itself and somehow be a part of a world long gone. There is something in George Gershwin’s music, and even more so when one hears him play it, that brings him completely and unequivocally to life. What is it about George Gershwin and his music that make us connect with it in such a strong way?

Brooklyn-born in 1898, George Gershwin was the second son of Russian-Jewish immigrants. As he had the gift of “hearing music in the heart of noise,” he grew up to capture American sound in music – “our national pep, our metropolitan madness, our blues.” His formal keyboard lessons began at the age of 10 at which point he immediately commandeered the family piano away from his older and more bookish brother, Ira. George’s public musical life began when he was 15, pounding out tunes for prospective sheet music publishers and buyers on New York’s famed Tin Pan Alley. With a natural keyboard ability and a special gift for melody and harmony, George quickly made his way from song-plugger to songwriter, and by the time he was 26 years old – with the 1924 New York premiere of Rhapsody in Blue – to concert hall composer and major international star.

Though songwriting Irving Berlin had no problem quipping after George died, “George Gershwin is the only songwriter I knew who became a composer,” George himself never cast aside his natural gift for the creation of the great American song. In fact, he was writing songs right up until the very end when he died of a brain tumor in 1937 at the age of 38. As the last thing that George was working on when he died was a melody left only in sketch form, it was up to his brother Ira, with whom George wrote some of the world’s most enduring love songs, and their friend, musician Vernon Duke, to complete “Our Love is Here to Stay.” Almost three quarters of a century later, there is no doubt that Ira and his lyric about his and his brother’s love – their work – was right. George and Ira’s most beloved songs have made their way into the public consciousness not just because of their inventive and haunting sounds, but also because of the humanity of Ira’s words. However, the most famous Gershwin work of all is the wordless Rhapsody in Blue. How is it that a concerto-like collection of loosely strung together themes and variations from a young composer without much of a structural master plan is as beloved 80 years after its debut as on the day its first note was born? Why do we connect to this piece in the way we do?

Legend has it that the now infamous opening clarinet wail was not George’s... invention but that of Ross Gorman, first clarinet of Paul Whiteman’s New York Palais Royal Orchestra. The band was rehearsing for Whiteman’s “Experiment in Modern Music” concert, and with 26 entirely new and relatively new pieces on the boards, the band members were certainly overworked and, as reported, bored. The fooling around began, and Gorman played half a scale of the new Gershwin piece and then bent the rest of the bar to sound like a siren. Perhaps he was suggesting the siren that calls work to an end and allows the exhausted to go home; one can never know, but either way, George had an uncanny ear, and rather than getting thoroughly annoyed with the antics of a trouble-making clarinetist, he ordered that the wail remain. It is this very wail that has become the most famous opening bar of American music to have ever been composed. Although most clarinetists today make a virtuoso turn of this infamous wail – if one listens to the original 1924 recording with George at the piano, one hears not a wail, but unbridled joy, followed by descending notes of laughter. Once again, like with the radio recording of George himself, it is not as much the art of the virtuoso as it is the art of the human being. One isn’t astonished by the technique, one is simply drawn into the music as if the instruments – levers, metal, hammers, wood – have all but completely disappeared and the notes themselves are human and are talking right to us.

In his first 16 bars, planned or not, George identifies all his thematic material and even hints at the famous slow theme with interconnecting chordal movement between clarinet trills. According to another legend, this E major slow theme was something that George had written some time before the emergence of this new piece and took it under his brother’s advisement to add in the slow theme as the centerpiece. Although “serious” musicologists have complained throughout the years about the structure of Rhapsody, one only has to look at the first few pages to see George’s genius upon which he builds the entire piece. Two simple themes are turned inside-out and sideways in at least three keys with nary a sign of boredom. Then, just when things couldn’t get more joyful, George introduces another seemingly unrelated theme in G major. Had he run out of ideas? Of course not! This theme answers the one that directly precedes it. His themes are talking to one another. A second American has entered the scene – and he too has something to say to that which came before him! The new melody is turned every which way and in more than one key and pulls us into its rhythmic grasp because George uses held notes where the third beat isn’t played. One-and-two-HOLD-and-four – an inner rhythm where the composer makes good on his promise to capture the rhythm of American life in sound. This is what America is about. We hold onto what we believe.

And then there’s that glorious slow theme – a theme that launched if not a thousand ships then at least an entire airline. “How could heirs be so base as to sell one of the most wonderful themes ever written to be used as a passing accompaniment for a commercial plane?” Perhaps. But what about the many children who today recognize a tune they may never have otherwise heard? And when connected to the rest of the piece, imagine the magic of the discovery!

Just as the warm E major chords have lulled us into a quiet contemplative mood, the ingenious introduction of the Latin-style rhythmic section – ONE-two-three, ONE-two-three, ONE-two – announces its visceral beat and presence. George wasn’t only a composer. He was a visionary. America wasn’t just a place for the white-bred and the newly created urbane Jew. It was a place where all kinds of beats must grow – especially the Latin one.

It has been said by those in the know that Rhapsody’s finale doesn’t broaden enough to allow us the full effect of a climax – that it sneaks up on us and robs us of the time to feel satisfied. Naturally! With such vision as George Gershwin had, such gift, and still so much more to say, how could George have given it a solid, full-blown and final end? America was just beginning, as was its greatest composer, and the energetic and punchy finale is about the excitement of all which still lies ahead.

That George Gershwin didn’t live to see the opening night of Oklahoma or West Side Story, My Fair Lady or Fiddler on the Roof or even meet Obi-Wan, John Williams and Star Wars is a tragedy. By right, a father should be present at the successes of his very young sons. But even though he died when just a young man himself, 74 years after he is gone, we still connect to his music as if it were just composed today and composed especially for us – because what George Gershwin created was more than just the foundation of a musical and cultural country. He left us with the musical reflection of who we are.

He also teaches at the Chautauqua Institution in New York and Washington University in St. Louis, continuing education.

SAMANTHA F. VOXAKIS (General Manager) is a proud native of Baltimore, MD where her 12 years with the Baltimore Orioles included a number of extraordinary events, including the opening of Camden Yards and Cal Ripken, Jr.’s 2131st game. She now keeps busy with the day-to-day operations of Eighty-Eight LLC and with playing proud den mother on the road. Although there was a time she took great pleasure in playing the piano, she has given it up as comparisons to her boss are simply too painful. With special thanks to her ever-supportive family, the auxiliary and, of course, Mr. Felder.

EIGHTY-EIGHT, LLC (Producer) Eighty-Eight Entertainment was created in 2001 by Hershey Felder and is devoted to the creation of new works of musical theatre. Eighty-Eight’s projects include the “Composer Sonata” featuring the lives and work of George Gershwin: George Gershwin Alone, Fryderyk Chopin: Monsieur Chopin, Ludwig van Beethoven: Beethoven, As I Knew Him and Leonard Bernstein: Maestro. Current projects include An American Story, a new musical based on a little-known story about President Lincoln’s final day. All members of Eighty-Eight LLC productions are creative artists in their own right, and all members are asked to advise and contribute on all aspects of production.
LOUIS G. SPISTO (Executive Producer) directs both the artistic and administrative activities of The Old Globe. During his tenure, Mr. Spisto spearheaded the return of the Shakespeare Repertory Company, revitalized the Globe’s new works program, resulting in 12 world premiere plays and 10 world premiere musicals, and produced more than 100 productions. Under Mr. Spisto’s leadership, ticket sales and contributions have increased substantially, and the fiscal health of the organization has been strengthened to support the expanded artistic vision. Mr. Spisto has successfully led the Globe’s $75 million Capital Campaign and managed the development of the Conrad Prebys Theatre Center, which includes a state-of-the-art arena theatre and education center. An advocate of arts education, Mr. Spisto created a number of new programs that serve tens of thousands of young San Diegans each year. These programs include a summer Shakespeare intensive, a major initiative in southeastern San Diego which includes the development of new works for younger and more diverse audiences, and free student matinees of the Globe’s regular productions. Mr. Spisto holds a Master’s degree from the University of Wisconsin and a Bachelor’s degree from the University of Notre Dame. He has served as chief executive for the Pacific Symphony, Detroit Symphony and American Ballet Theatre.

JACK O’BRIEN (Artistic Director Emeritus) served as the Artistic Director of The Old Globe from 1982 through 2007. Recent Globe productions: Dirty Rotten Scoundrels, Imaginary Friends, Twelfth Night, The Full Monty, The Seagull, The Magic Fire, Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! West End: Love Never Dies (sequel to Andrew Lloyd Webber’s The Phantom of the Opera), Hairspray (Olivier Award for Best Musical, Best Director nomination). Broadway: Catch Me If You Can, Impressionism (Creator/Supervisor), Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas!, The Coast of Utopia (2007 Tony Award for Best Direction of a Play, which won a total of seven Tony Awards, including Best Play), Dirty Rotten Scoundrels (Tony nominations: Best Director and Musical), Henry IV (Tony Award), Hairspray (Tony Award), The Invention of Love (Tony nominations: Best Director and Play), The Full Monty (Tony nominations: Best Director and Musical), More to Love, Labor Day, St. Louis Woman, Pride’s Crossing, The Little Foxes, Happgood (Lucille Lortel Award for Direction, 1995), Damn Yankees (Tony nomination Best Musical Revival), Two Shakespearean Actors (Tony nominations: Best Director and Play), Porgy and Bess for Houston Grand Opera and Broadway (Tony Award), as well as Radio City Music Hall, Il Tritico, Metropolitan Opera. RECENT AWARDS: 2008 Theatre Hall of Fame Inductee, 2004 Thomas Degaetani Award (USITT), 2002 “Mr. Abbott” Award (SDCF), 2001 Joan Cullman Award for Extraordinary Creativity, 2001 Joe A. Callaway Award (SDCF), the Drama League’s Julia Hansen Award for Excellence in Directing, 2001. Honorary Doctorate, University of Michigan. Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters, University of San Diego. Recipient of ArtServe Michigan’s 2008 International Achievement Award. Mr. O’Brien is a member of the College of Fellows of the American Theatre.

CRAIG NOEL (Founding Director) was first appointed director in 1939, directing 15 productions prior to World War II. Since then he directed more than 200 plays of all styles and periods and produced an additional 270 productions. His vision for The Old Globe resulted in the establishment of the Shakespeare Festival and the San Diego Junior Theatre in the late ’40s, the expansion to two theatres in the ’50s, Globe Educational Tours in the ’70s and Teatro Meta and the Old Globe/University of San Diego MFA program in the ’80s. During the 1940s, Mr. Noel served as dialogue director for the 20th Century Fox Studios and was the former director of the Ernie Pyle Theatre in Tokyo. Described by Variety as the eminence grise of San Diego theatre, Mr. Noel is one of the few San Diegans to have had an entire year (1987) proclaimed as the city’s history; the Governor’s Union-Tribune San Diego’s “Living Treasures.” He was a founder of the California Theatre Council and a former vice president of the California Confederation of the Arts. His numerous honors include The San Diego Union-Tribune list of 25 persons who shaped the city’s history; the Governor’s Award for the Arts; University of Arizona Alumni Association’s Outstanding Citizen, for his contribution to their Fine Arts department; San Diego State University’s Outstanding Alumnus; Conservator of American Arts Award from American Conservatory Theater; the San Diego Press Club Headliner Award; San Diego Gentleman of Distinction Award; and a combined tribute from the Public Arts Advisory Council and the San Diego County Board of Supervisors. Mr. Noel was particularly proud of the following three honors representing education and theatre: Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters, University of San Diego, Honorary Doctorate in Fine Arts, San Diego State University and the annual Awards for Excellence in Theatre named in his honor by the San Diego Theatre Critics Circle. In 2007, he received the National Medal of Arts – the nation’s highest honor for artistic excellence – in a ceremony at the White House. Craig Noel died on April 3, 2010 at the age of 94.
The Old Globe opened its arms to the theatre artists of the future at the third annual Globe Honors awards event. The stage was alive with talented teens and the sparkles in their eyes lit up the theatre. This was an evening to remember.

Some 75 brave young actors and singers auditioned for our judges, who selected 12 finalists to go on and perform their songs or monologues for a panel of professional casting agents, a director and a university professor. From that group our winners were selected. During the week before the event, six students competed for the Technical Theatre category by sending in their portfolios and going through interviews with the heads of our production, stage management, costume and technical departments.

The winners of the 2011 Globe Honors were Michael Mahady (Lead Actor in a Musical), Nicole Elledge (Lead Actress in a Musical), Dylan Hoffinger (Musical Theatre, Male), Megan Neubauer (Musical Theatre, Female), A.J. Foggiano (Spoken Theatre, Male), Lila Gavares (Spoken Theatre, Female) and Dillon Evans (Technical Theatre and Stage Management).

Each winner received a cash scholarship to further their studies, and the winners of Leading Role in a Musical received an all-expense-paid trip to New York to compete in the National High School Musical Theatre Awards.

Congratulations to all of the exceptional teens who participated in this competition!
The Old Globe is deeply grateful to its Sponsors, each of whom has made an annual donation of $50,000 or greater.

The Old Globe’s ability to maintain the highest standard of excellence, while keeping ticket prices affordable, is due in large part to the financial support of more than 2,000 individuals, businesses, foundations and government agencies. Please join us in giving a warm thanks and recognition to these leaders who have made tonight and our 629 other performances possible. The Old Globe appreciates the support of those who have stepped into the spotlight.

As announced in July 2008, the names of Annual Fund donors at the Silver level are published semi-annually, once in the Shakespeare Festival program and again in a winter Globe program.

For additional information on how you may support The Old Globe’s artistic, education and community programs, please visit our website at www.TheOldGlobe.org or contact Rachel Plummer, Development Manager, Individual Annual Giving, at (619) 231-1941 x2317 or rplummer@TheOldGlobe.org.

Meet the Artist

Meet and mingle with talented Globe actors, directors and artists at exclusive events for Globe donors.

Each year, The Old Globe hosts a special “Meet the Artist” series to thank Annual Fund donors, whose gifts support our artistic and education programs. These special behind-the-scenes events are reserved for Globe donors of $500 or more, and attendees enjoy pre- and post-event receptions and have the opportunity to interact with talented Globe artists, who later regale the attendees with personal and professional stories during a candid interview with the Globe’s Executive Producer, Lou Spisto.

The remaining artists for the 2011 series will be:

ADRIAN NOBLE – 2011 Shakespeare Festival Artistic Director.

MILES ANDERSON – appearing as Prospero in The Tempest and Salieri in Amadeus during the 2011 Shakespeare Festival.

Globe donors who attended the first event in this year’s series were able to meet Sam Gold, the director of the Globe’s 2011 critically-acclaimed production of Tracy Letts’ August: Osage County.

A Planned Gift Ensures a Strong Tomorrow for The Old Globe

What is the Craig Noel League?
Founded in 2000 and named for the Globe’s Founding Director, the League is a planned giving society for the Globe comprised of individuals who have included The Old Globe in their estate plans. Through their generosity, these supporters of the Theatre are helping to ensure a long and bright future for San Diego’s leading cultural landmark.

What is a Planned Gift?
Planned giving is simply a way to support The Old Globe through your estate plans by establishing an irrevocable bequest of property, stock or cash; a charitable trust; a living estate; or some other deferred giving instrument. In your estate plans, you have the ability to designate the specific use of the funds given to the Globe, and to help guide your decision, The Old Globe Board of Directors has established specific giving areas that you may choose from, including classical theatre and Shakespeare, education programs and new works.

How do I make a Planned Gift?
Simply call the Globe and schedule an appointment for a confidential meeting, or visit with your estate planner or attorney. You may also attend one of several seminars held throughout the year to become more acquainted with estate planning.

How can a Planned Gift help me?
A planned gift can reduce your income tax, increase your yearly income, help you avoid capital gains tax, distribute your assets to family members at a reduced tax rate and, most importantly, support an organization you love! You will also have the satisfaction of knowing your gift will impact generations of future theatregoers and that The Old Globe will remain a leader in the theatre arts for decades to come!

To become a member of the Craig Noel League or to tell us of a gift you have already made, please contact Bridget Cantu Wear, Associate Director of Development, Planned Giving, at (619) 231-1941 ext. 2312 or bcantuwear@TheOldGlobe.org.

Join us and become a part of our active community with a variety of exciting events like our Annual Member Event on Thursday, August 25, in the Craig Noel Garden followed by a theatre performance. Attend one of our monthly lunches – “Food for Thought” – and meet a Globe artist or attend one of the many Opening Night receptions.

Associate Artists of The Old Globe

In recognition of their unique contribution to the growth of The Old Globe and their special talent, we take great pride and pleasure in acknowledging as Associate Artists the following individuals who have repeatedly demonstrated by their active presence on our stages and in our shops, that wherever else they may work, they remain the heart and soul of the Globe.

ORDERING TICKETS/CHANGE OF ADDRESS
The Old Globe accepts Visa, Discover, MasterCard, or American Express. Phone orders for non-subscribers are subject to a $3.50 per ticket service charge. Ticket exchanges are subject to a service charge for non-subscribers. If you have moved, please notify the Ticket Services Office to update our records. Call (619) 234-5623 during Ticket Services hours, mail your change of address to the Ticket Services Office, or email us at Tickets@TheOldGlobe.org.

UNABLE TO ATTEND?
If you find you are unable to use your tickets, please give them to a friend, or turn them in to the Ticket Services Office and receive a tax receipt for your donation. Tickets must be received by show time.

RESTROOMS
Restrooms are located in the lower lobby of the Old Globe Theatre, the lobby of the White Theatre and adjacent to the Festival Theatre.

SEATING OF LATECOMERS
Although we understand parking is often a premium, the seating of latecomers is extremely disruptive. Latecomers may be given alternative seating and will be seated at an appropriate interval.

YOUNG CHILDREN
Children five years of age and under will not be admitted to performances.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES AND CAMERAS
Use of recording devices and cameras is not permitted. Please silence all digital watches, pagers and cellular phones prior to entering the theatre.

ASSISTED LISTENING SYSTEM
For the convenience of our hard of hearing and hearing-impaired, The Old Globe has an Assistive Listening System in both the Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre and the Old Globe Theatre. A limited number of the lightweight headsets, as well as induction neck loops, may be obtained from the house manager prior to performances.

PUBLIC TOURS
Go behind the scenes at The Old Globe to learn about the history, three stages, shop and craft areas. Open tours: most Saturdays and Sundays at 10:30am. Groups by reservation. $5 adults; $3 seniors and students. Phone (619) 238-0043 x2145 for information/reservations.

LOST AND FOUND
If you have misplaced a personal item while at the theatre, please contact the Ticket Services Office or Security as soon as possible. If we are unable to locate your item, we’ll happily take down your contact information and a description of the item and contact you if it is found. The Old Globe does not assume liability for items left behind on the premises.
