GRINCH
STOLE CHRISTMAS!

November 7 - December 26

WELCOME

Welcome to Whoville! No Globe tradition is more beloved than our annual production of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! Even as we mark its 18th year, we are proud to keep expanding and deepening its reach into the community. For the past three years, we have offered a special performance of The Grinch specifically designed for children and adults on the autism spectrum or with other special needs. This year we continue that tradition, inviting this audience to participate in the magic and wonder of The Grinch. We've also made available a significant number of seats at price points that allow a wider spectrum of San Diego theatregoers to attend this heartwarming and wonderful show.

That magic would not be possible without the support of one very special person. For more than three decades, Audrey Geisel has been close to the heart of The Old Globe, providing support through her kindness, warm smile, charming wit, and extraordinary generosity. She is a champion of the arts in this community, serving as philanthropist, advocate, and leader for many institutions. The production that you see today is on our stage thanks to Theodor Geisel's creativity and Audrey's vision and most sincere friendship. Tens of thousands of children have come to know live theatre through The Grinch, and we are grateful to Audrey that each year we are able to mount this production and introduce more young people to this magical art form.

From everyone here at The Old Globe, we offer our sincere wishes for a happy holiday season and a new year filled with joy and theatre.

PRODUCTION SPONSORS

AUDREY S. GEISEL

One of the Globe's nearest and dearest friends, Audrey S. Geisel has supported theatre and education programs at the Globe for many years, and in 2015 the theatre launches its 18th consecutive season of Audrey and the Globe's perennial community favorite, Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! A longtime La Jolla resident and Globe advocate, Audrey serves as President and CEO of Dr. Seuss Enterprises and President of the Dr. Seuss Foundation, which supports a variety of arts, education, and literacy organizations in San Diego. Though Audrey shows tremendous generosity to many worthwhile organizations, her love of learning and literacy has been a driving force in her charitable giving, benefiting The Center for Family Literacy, San Diego Zoological Society, Vista Hill, La Jolla Playhouse, UC San Diego, and, of course, The Old Globe. The Globe wishes to acknowledge and thank Audrey for supporting this beloved holiday production for 18 glorious years and for her deep and abiding commitment to The Old Globe.

BANK OF AMERICA

For many decades, Bank of America has been a vital supporter of world-class theatre and outstanding arts education programs for thousands of San Diegans, and the Globe salutes them for their continuing generosity this year on the 18th anniversary of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! This outstanding annual contribution enables thousands of San Diego County students to attend a free matinee performance of The Grinch. Bank of America has also previously sponsored Globe productions of Since Africa, Kingdom, What the World Needs Now, The Real Thing, Time and Again, and Hershey Felder's Beethoven, As I Knew Him. The Old Globe thanks Bank of America for its continuous support in sustaining one of America's finest regional theatres.

RANDOM HOUSE CHILDREN'S BOOKS

The Old Globe is pleased to recognize Random House Children's Books for their generous support of the theatre's 18th anniversary of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! For years, Random House has donated in excess of 1,600 Dr. Seuss books to Title One students who attend free matinees to see this beloved musical. This year they have increased their contribution to more than 2,100 books! The Globe applauds Random House for this magnificent gift, which will encourage thousands of children to read and will give them a special treasure by which to remember their holiday visit to The Old Globe.

SDG&E

For more than 26 years, SDG&E and the Sempra family of companies have been committed to supporting The Old Globe and their nationally known education programs, which enhance the lives of San Diego residents. SDG&E has always believed strongly in the Globe's artistic work and is proud to celebrate the 18th anniversary of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! SDG&E helped launch two of the Globe's many Broadway-bound musicals, The Full Monty and Damn Yankees, and continues to be one of the theatre's most stalwart supporters. The Globe salutes SDG&E, and together they share the belief that exciting and outstanding cultural programs contribute to the development of strong San Diego community youth leaders.

OUR THANKS

Welcome to Whoville!

For the 18th year in a row, Max the dog, all the Whos in Whoville, and that Big Green Meanie take the stage for Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas! Many San Diego families have special memories made here. My family’s first excursion included three generations discovering favorite friends from the book come to glorious life in song...and then it snowed! Over the years, I remember all of us fondly (and incessantly) singing “You’re a Mean One, Mr. Grinch,” discovering pure joy at the special needs performances, and watching happy little faces light up at seeing The Grinch and Cindy-Lou Who. We couldn’t be more thrilled to share it with you today so you can create your own happy memories!

Join me in a rousing hip-hip-Who-ray for our dear friend Audrey Geisel, who generously gives the gift of The Grinch to the Globe and to San Diego year after year. Audrey’s passion, love, and support for the arts help us reach thousands of young people through our literacy programs and free student matinees. Special thanks also go to this production’s other valued sponsors: Bank of America, Random House Children’s Books, SDG&E, and ViaSat. As your Globe Board Chair and a firm believer in the restorative powers of the arts, I am pleased to represent and support this incredible institution alongside these amazing donors.

We continue with our fourth season of sensory-friendly performances of The Grinch, happy to include children and adults on the autism spectrum and their families in addition to families with special needs, as they also appreciate the welcoming and supportive environment this performance provides. It is your support, not only as ticket buyers, but also as donors and Globe ambassadors, that ensures the future of programs that bring the joy and richness of the arts to new audiences in our city. Your philanthropy makes a difference. We ask you to invest in the Globe and help San Diego’s largest not-for-profit performing arts organization close the 45% funding gap between the total cost of producing each show and earned income from ticket sales. We are grateful to our audiences for your adventurous and open-minded spirit, which encourages us to produce the best in entertaining and rewarding theatre.

As you experience the theatrical magic of this beloved San Diego holiday tradition, remember that the new year will bring a whole new slate of exciting productions and programs that keep the magic alive all year round. We wish you the happiest of holidays. May your hearts grow three sizes this season!

THE PLAY

FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

There are many wonders in San Diego, to be sure, but for me one of the greatest is Dr. Seuss’ How the Grinch Stole Christmas!, now in its astonishing 18th iteration. That’s a good run: Presidents have come and gone but The Grinch endures. Children who appeared onstage in Whoville back at the start are now grown-ups with kids of their own. New generations of theatregoers continue to experience the magic of the stage for the first time as they visit the Globe for their inaugural dose of Seussian sweetness. Of all the things that make my job fun, producing The Grinch tops the list. And of all the things that make me proud to have this job, an inspiring and growing tradition tops that list: this year we will once again present a special performance of The Grinch adapted specifically for families with members on the autism spectrum and with other special needs. It is a privilege to bring theatre to a part of our community that has been unable to access it, and it is an honor to be a leader among not-for-profit arts institutions nationwide doing this important work.

This and other initiatives are part of the Globe’s major commitment to the idea of community engagement. As a not-for-profit institution chartered to provide a public good, the Globe has an obligation to bring our work to the widest swath of citizens. We strive each year to create new points of entry to this show and all our work so that San Diegans in every walk of life can enjoy a real stake in this institution. Our new Department of Engagement is designed to carry this impulse into every corner of The Old Globe and every corner of San Diego County. We look forward to sharing that department’s exciting work in the years ahead.

The Grinch is on our stage through the great generosity of Audrey Geisel, one of the Globe’s most valued friends. I was able to thank her for her support in person recently when I visited her in her office, which happens to be the very room in which her late husband Theodor Geisel, Dr. Seuss himself, wrote and drew the books that have become central to the lives of children worldwide. It was a true thrill to be there! I am grateful that the theatre I lead is the recipient of the Geisel family’s ongoing largesse, and grateful to have this happy and spectacular and big and hairy tradition so close to the heart of my professional and personal lives.

I’m grateful too that this year yet another talented ensemble of performers gathers under our roof to bring this delightful show to life. We welcome a new Grinch this season, the eminent Broadway star and astonishingly gifted musical theatre performer J. Bernard Calloway. We’re lucky to have him with us and happy to see him enchant and delight our audience. I know you will be, too.

Thanks for coming. Enjoy the show.

Who is The Grinch, and where did he come from? In 1957, when How the Grinch Stole Christmas! was first published, Theodor Geisel was asked this very question. He answered:

I was brushing my teeth on the morning of the 26th of last December, when I noted a very Grinchish countenance in the mirror. It was Seuss! Something had gone wrong with Christmas, I realized, or more likely with me. So I wrote the story about my sour friend, The Grinch, to see if I could rediscover something about Christmas that obviously I'd lost.

Geisel even illustrated the moment with a drawing of himself looking in the mirror, toothbrush in hand. The Grinch stares back at him.

Geisel was never shy about the fact that he identified with his cranky creation. A San Diego resident for the last half of his life, he drove the streets of America’s Finest City in a 1984 Cadillac with “GRINCH” license plates. He even made The Grinch the same age that he himself was when he wrote the book. (“Why, for fifty-three years I’ve put up with it now!” The Grinch cries.)

When The Grinch made the leap from book to film, his appearance changed. He went from white to green, and his face now looked suspiciously like Chuck Jones, the animator who created the popular

CBS cartoon. Theodor Geisel and Chuck Jones had been friends for many years, and when Geisel told Jones that The Grinch now looked like him, Jones confessed. “I’m afraid that he did,” Jones said. “I tend to sneak my face in without knowing it, into things that I draw, because sometimes I’ll glance in the mirror to get a certain expression I want.”

Maybe Theodor Geisel and Chuck Jones aren’t the only ones—maybe there’s a little bit of The Grinch in each of us. How the Grinch Stole Christmas! is about more than celebrating the holidays. It’s about celebrating hope and the possibility of change. And that’s not just for Grinches. It’s not just for kids. It’s also for The Grinch that stares back at us from our own mirrors.

Indeed, Geisel never saw The Grinch as the “bad guy” of the story. “Can’t they see that the Grinch in my story is the Hero of Christmas?” he asked. “Sure, he starts out as a villain, but it’s not how you start out that counts. It’s what you are at the finish.”

Theodor Geisel created The Grinch to rediscover something he had lost about Christmas, and in so doing, he created an enduring Christmas gift for the Grinch in all of us. ■

One Special Saturday

The Grinch may start out as the greatest Christmas hater since Ebenezer Scrooge, but he comes around in the end and steps up as a generous lover of the true meaning of the holiday. There's a spirit of joy that springs from the stage as the story is told each year for thousands and thousands of children and their families here at The Old Globe. But three years ago, we realized there were some families who weren't coming to see the show, so we set out to find out why.

For typical theatregoers, seeing a show in a darkened room with colorful, costumed characters, bright lights, singing, dancing, and lots of surprises sounds like a great way to spend an afternoon or evening. For a child on the autism spectrum, though, it can be overwhelming. But children on the autism spectrum (and those with other special needs) want to have fun, too. So we set out to make our production of The Grinch as welcoming to these children and their families as we could.

Following the lead of Theatre Development Fund, whose Autism Initiative makes Broadway productions accessible to people with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), we met with specialists who took a close look at the show and our theatre environment and suggested ways we could create a safe place for these children and their families. For one special performance we tone down the loud noises, keep the theatre slightly lit throughout the show, skip the fog and flashing lights, and soften the big surprises. Our lobbies become safe havens for children to take a break from the show and curl up on a beanbag chair or body pillow, or sit in a rocking chair and watch the show through the open door to the theatre. On that special day, the theatre is staffed by dozens of autism specialists who volunteer their time to support the children and their families before, during and after the performance. And most of all, we offer warm smiles and no judgment for families who often feel unable to participate in public events because of the uncertainties of life with a family member with special needs.

The 2015 sensory-friendly performance of Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas! will be presented on Saturday, December 12 at 10:30 a.m. The performance is specially designed for people with autism or other special needs and their families. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Ticket Office at (619) 234-5623. Our online social story can be downloaded and used at home to prepare children for the experience of visiting the theatre to see the show: TheOldGlobe.org/GrinchSocialStory. ■

ASSISTED LISTENING SYSTEM

For the convenience of our hard-of-hearing and hearing-impaired patrons, The Old Globe has an Assistive Listening System in all three theatres: the Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre, the Old Globe Theatre, and the Lowell Davies Festival Theatre. A limited number of the lightweight headsets, as well as induction neck loops, may be obtained from the house manager prior to performances.
